Clubafaceri.ro is offering every small or medium company an automated solution for activating a Google Apps™ account as well as the necessary support for implementing it. So every company and its employees may benefit from free access to applications such as email, calendar, chat, word processing, spreadsheets and presentations all within the internet domain of the company. "Our aim is to attract as many companies as possible from the offline environment towards the online and to prove its advantages. We are absolutely convinced that by using Google Apps services every company in Romania shall communicate, both internally and with business partners easier and more efficiently. Moreover, it will support the enhanced effectiveness of internal processes with no additional costs", says Mister Adrian Tanasescu, executive manager of MediaNet. Google Apps allows companies to offer their employees communication and collaboration tools within their own Internet domain. All the services are hosted by Google and may be accessed by the employees through a computer or through a mobile device connected to the Internet. Google Apps brings together the following services: Gmail™ - Offer custom email addresses to your organization with up to 6 gigabytes of storage for each account, search tools to help people find information fast, plus instant messaging and calendar tools built right into the email interface.
